

Reincarnation

Paramahansa Yogananda: The doctrine that human beings return again and again to earth until they consciously regain their true status as children of God, at which time the cycle ceases.

A hard sell to Western audiences, the above doctrine is found in the scriptures and practices of the world's major religions as interpreted by the mystics discussed in section two of "The Case Against Death."

To be discussed:

- Reincarnation in Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Buddhism, and Hinduism
- Reincarnation's corollary, the law of cause and effect (karma), and how the law relates to the messages received, and lessons learned, while in the light of the near-death experience.

Albert Einstein: God does not throw dice.
